

External and Internal Redecoration

Peabody Estate, Southwark Street, London

Highlights

Our Heritage team undertook an external and internal redecoration programme on a Victorian-era residential estate managed by Peabody in Southwark, London.

Axis carefully conducted masonry repairs on the facades of all 9 blocks within the estate, which house a total of 156 residents. We then used the specialist DOFF cleaning system on outdoor surfaces and washed down windows. This allowed our specialist painting team to undertake the external redecoration.

The internal programme of works comprised the full redecoration of indoor communal areas, including walls, ceilings, doors and railings. The schedule of works was tailored to the convenience of residents; they were consulted ahead of paint being applied to doors and other communal areas. Axis made sure to closely adhere to the colour preferences expressed by the client.

The project included the external and internal redecoration of a mixed residential and commercial property on Great Guildford street, on the edge of the Southwark Street estate.
